about the School

The School of Agriculture at Dev Bhoomi Uttarakhand University plays a vital role in developing skilled professionals who can address modern agricultural challenges with scientific knowledge and innovation. Known as the Best Agriculture University in Dehradun, the school emphasizes learning that connects classroom concepts with real-world agricultural applications.

Students are exposed to crop science, soil health management, plant protection, agribusiness practices, and sustainable farming systems through a balanced academic framework. Extensive field demonstrations, practical training sessions, and exposure to advanced agricultural tools help students gain hands-on understanding of farming operations.

The school encourages research-led learning, innovation in farm practices, and responsible use of natural resources. Faculty members actively mentor students to develop analytical skills, environmental awareness, and problem-solving abilities essential for the agriculture sector.

Surrounded by Uttarakhand's diverse agro-climatic conditions, Dev Bhoomi Uttarakhand University offers an ideal ecosystem for agricultural education, making it a preferred destination for students seeking impactful careers in agriculture.
